Headline:
Frosty start for many Friday. Otherwise generally dry and bright.

This Evening and Tonight:
Cloudy with occasionally heavy rain clearing east this evening with showers following in west. East drier with long clear spells and a touch of frost, perhaps icy patches, developing. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Friday:
Chilly start with risk ice from M74 eastwards. Sunny spells for most, however west cloudier with some showers, these chiefly confined to the morning. Northwesterly winds easing. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Bright start in east but rain spreading east Saturday morning, clearing later. Mainly dry with sunny spells Sunday and Monday, although some overnight rain expected. Windy at times, especially Monday.
